

MAY 24th

On this day in...

1996: A cold storm system came from the north and produced thunderstorms. Streets were buried in pea-size hail in Fallbrook. “Ping pong size” hail also fell there. Lightning strikes were common. Crop damage occurred around Fallbrook from the hail. Lightning struck two palm trees in Oceanside and burned like torches. Power was knocked out in the north county.

1960: An 8.5 magnitude earthquake hit Chile. Waves eight feet above normal hit San Diego. Docks were destroyed near Point Loma and extensively damaged throughout the harbor from tide currents estimated at 20-25 knots.
